

Course Description

This course is designed to educate physicians and emergency medicine specialists about otolaryngology emergencies in children and adults. The speakers will cover a broad range of topics with particular emphasis on presentation and diagnosis of complex issues such as complications of sinusitis and otologic infections, airway and esophageal foreign body, neck abscesses and facial injuries. It is anticipated that many different types of professionals will attend this conference, including those from the fields of otolaryngology, head & neck surgery, plastic surgery, pediatrics, family practice, internal medicine, emergency medicine, emergency medical technology and firefighting.

Upon completion of the program the participants should be able to:

1. Describe the presentation and management of complications of sinusitis and otologic infections in children and adults.
2. State the role of endoscopy in management of airway and esophageal foreign bodies.
3. Delineate the different imaging and treatment modalities of pediatric neck abscesses.
4. Describe the presentation and imaging of pediatric and adult facial fractures.
5. Describe the presentation and management of emergencies in head and neck cancer patients.

Oakwood Hospital is accredited by the Michigan State Medical Society on CME Accreditation to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
